TABLE I.

Area, Houses and Population.

The census of Balūchistān was made up of two parts (i) the regular census of towns, bāzars and other alien settlements, which was conducted in the ordinary manner on the standard Indian schedule on the night of the 10th March 1911, and (ii) the non-synchronous census of the tribesmen and other indigenous inhabitants on a schedule peculiar to Balūchistān, which was carried out during the previous summer, except in Khārān, where operations were for political reasons not feasible till the autumn of 1911. The results may be summarized thus:—

| | Persons | Males | Females |
|---|---|---|---|
| Regular Census . . | 63,007 | 49,271 | 13,736 |
| Tribal Census . . | 771,696 | 417,148 | 354,548 |
| Balūchistān . . | 834,703 | 466,419 | 368,284 |

The term 'house' includes not only houses, but also blanket-tents and other movable or temporary dwellings. The term 'village' includes not only villages in the ordinary sense of the word, but also localities which, though possibly containing no permanent dwellings, are regularly occupied at certain seasons of the year. 172,649 souls in all were enumerated in 912 localities of this description in various parts of the country:—

| | Periodically inhabited localities | Population | | Periodically inhabited localities | Population |

TABLE II.

Variation in Population since 1901.

Census results in 1891, 1901 and 1911 may be summarised thus :—

| Year | Area in square miles dealt with | Population | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|
| | | Total | Estimated | Enumerated |
| 1891 . . | 20,568 | 171,752 | 142,473 | 29,279 |
| 1901 . . | 82,950 | 810,746 | 459,728 | 351,018 |
| 1911 . . | 134,638 | 834,703 | . . . | 834,703 |

The first census of 1891 was too rough and fragmentary to lend itself for comparison in the following Table.

The figures for 1901 have been adjusted in view of subsequent changes in administrative charges, the chief of which was the splitting up of the Zhōb and Thal-Chōtili districts into Lōralai, Zhōb and Sibi in 1903. No attempt has been made to adjust the rough estimates in the native states, the sanguine nature of which accounts for the apparent decrease in Kalāt at the present census.

The following areas are included in the census for the first time :—

| New census areas | District or State | Method of census | Population |
|---|---|---|---|
| Western Sanjrāni | Chāgai . . . | Enumerated . . | 1,620 |
| Makrān . . . | Kalāt . . . . | Enumerated . . | 71,942 |
| Khārān . . . | Kalāt . . . . | Enumerated . . | 22,663 |

TABLE VII.

Age, Sex and Civil Condition.

As neither specific age nor civil condition was recorded in the areas censused on the special tribal schedule, this Table falls naturally into two parts. In part A the statistics for the regular areas are analysed in full for the province as a whole, and a summary of the statistics for the tribal areas is added to give completeness. Part B contains the puberal and sex statistics for the tribal areas by districts and states.

TABLE VIII.

Education by Religion and Age.

In the Christian figures are included 495 male and 257 female Indian Christians:—

| Age | Literate | | | Illiterate | | | Literate in English | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| | Persons | Males | Females | Persons | Males | Females | Persons | Males | Females |
| 0—10 | 6 | 2 | 4 | 159 | 77 | 82 | .. | .. | .. |

TABLE XII.

Infirmities.

In Part I age is unspecified for 3,111 infirm belonging to the 771,696 souls enumerated on the Tribal schedule.

In both Parts there is a discrepancy in the total number of the infirm, as one deaf-mute male in Chāgai and one blind male in Sibi were also returned as insane.

TABLE XIV.

Civil Condition by Age for Selected Castes.

The number of indigenous inhabitants censused in the regular areas, where alone statistics regarding age and civil condition were collected, is too small to justify a selection of races and tribes. The Table accordingly consists of a review of civil condition by age among the population censused on the regular schedule, divided into two main groups, indigenous and others, with subdivisions by the main religions.

TABLE XV.

Occupation or Means of Livelihood.

This Table is divided into five Parts. Part A, which is complete in itself, deals with the occupations of the whole population, and consists (i) of a provincial summary, and (ii) of a detailed statement for the various districts and states. Part B treats of the subsidiary occupations of agriculturists who returned themselves as actual workers. A review of certain other mixed occupations is given in Part C. In Part D all occupations are classified by religion. Part E contains the results of a supplementary Industrial census which was taken on the census night.

TABLE XVII.

Territorial Distribution of the Christian Population by Sect and Race.

The term Anglo-Indian includes all persons of mixed blood formerly known as Eurasian, and is not confined to those of partly British origin.

Under the head 'Minor Protestant Denominations' are grouped one male European belonging to the Church of India, two male Indians belonging to the American Church of God Mission, and two male and two female Indians belonging to the Church of God.

One European male Theosophist and one Indian male Unitarian have been classed under 'Indefinite Beliefs.'

PROVINCIAL TABLE I.

Area and Population by Political Agencies, Tahsils and other Local Areas.

In this and the following table certain main statistics are given for the administrative divisions of the various Political Agencies.

Statistics of nomadism were collected in the tribal census only; all censused in the regular areas have accordingly been assumed to be 'settled.'
